THIRTY EXERCISES

FOR THE

VOICE

These Exercises form a transition from the Grand Style to the Extreme Difficulties of Vocalisation

Thirty Daily Exercises.

J. CONCONE. Op. 11.

In practising the following exercises, always endeavor to produce each tone with correct and pure intonation and uniform power. To this end, the exercises must be executed slowly at first, gradually accelerating the movement at each repetition, at the same time progressively augmenting the power of the tone. Practice conducted in this manner will infallibly lead to good vocalization.

In order that the voice may be made to run through all the degrees of its compass and thus acquire perfect evenness of the registers; each separate passage in the ensuing six exercises should be repeated several times before proceeding to that which follows it chromatically

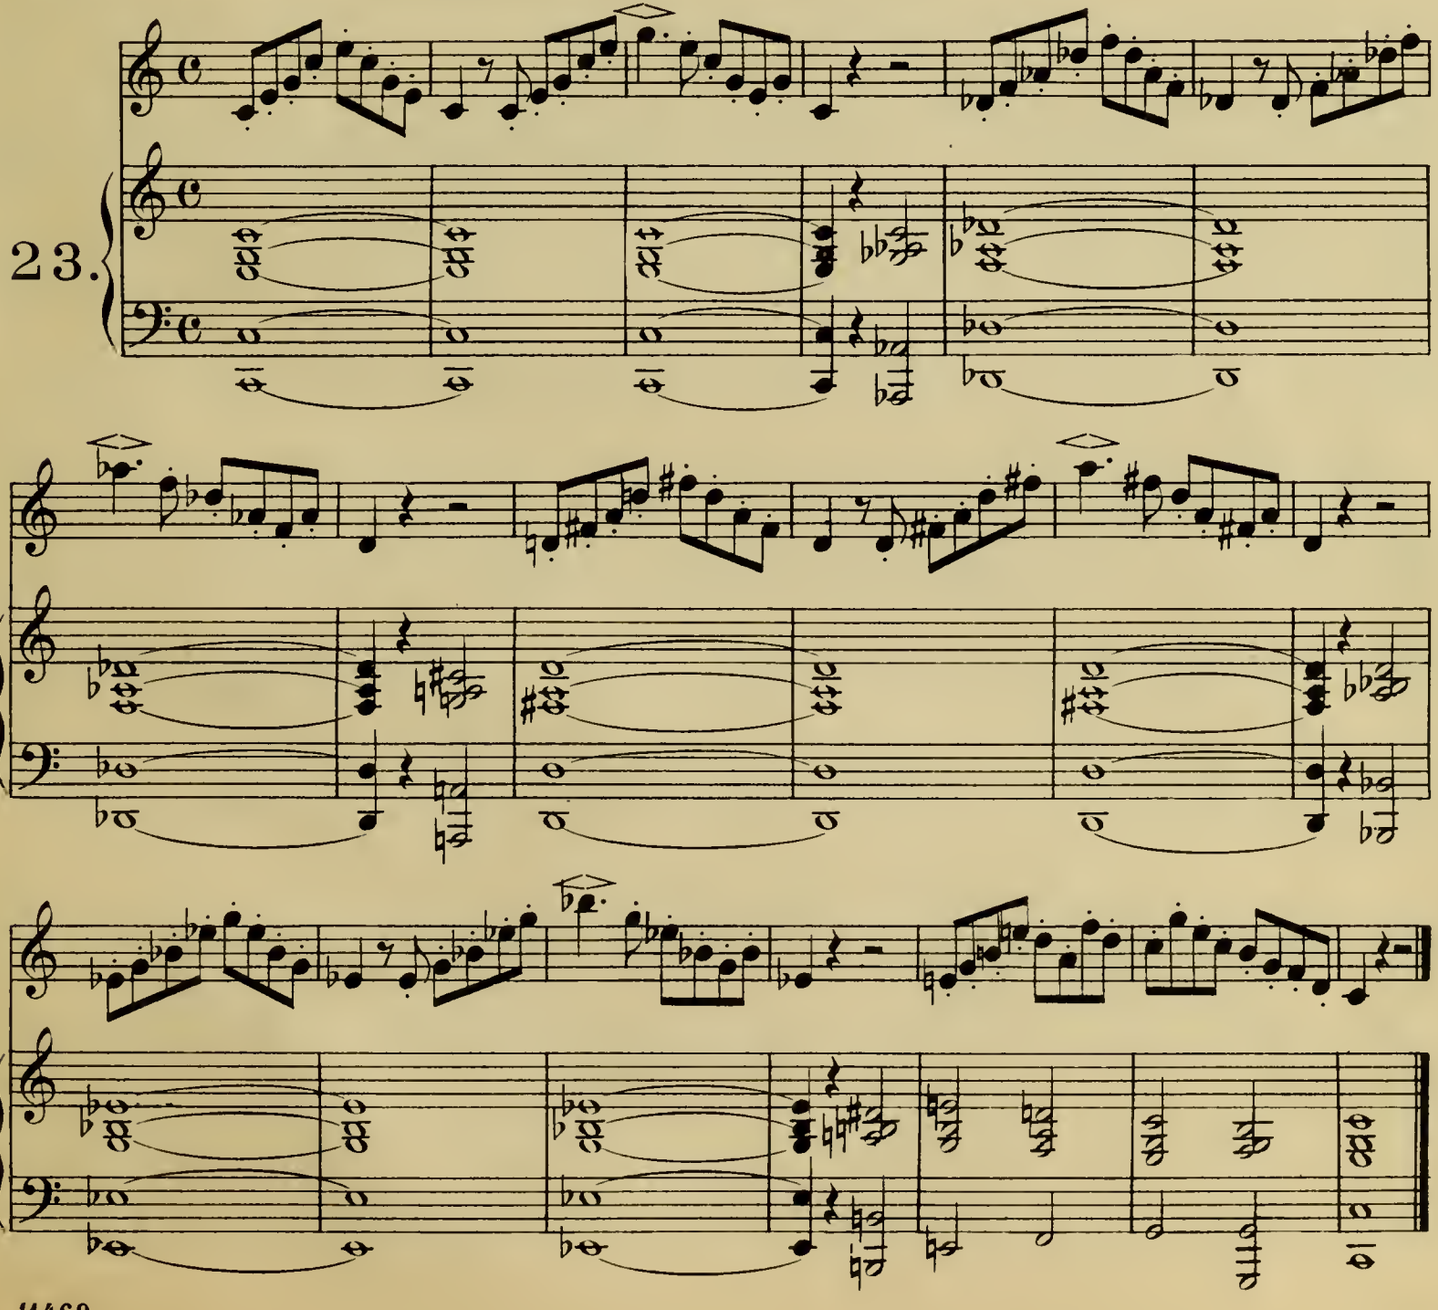
The following exercise in detached notes should be practiced mezza voce, taking care that the delivery of each tone be pure and even.



Preparatory exercise for executing the Trill.

These graces, called collectively Gruppetti, require the greatest distinctness of intonation combined with lightness; they are employed chiefly in the medium register. In the five following exercises the most common of these graces are given.

On the Chromatic Scale.

The diatonic progression of the major or minor scale is so natural that even a person of mediocre endowments readily succeeds in producing, to any given tone, the six others separating it from its octave. This is not the case, however, when the succession is chromatic, i.e. progressing by semitones. The ear needs to grow accustomed to this less usual mode of progression, in order to vanquish a sort of repugnance which the voice feels to their easy and accurate execution.

It is the aim of the following exercises to prepare for conquering this difficulty; one ought not to proceed to a new exercise before assuring oneself that the last can be well and correctly executed with respect to the accurate intonation of each tone. Nor should one practice self-deception as regards this good execution; it can be obtained only by dint of very considerable study.

In the exercises now following, the sign ∧ does not indicate a rinforzando of the voice, but a light rhythmical accent; a device, the high value of which will be speedily recognised, for the surer attainment of the goal.

THE MASTERPIECES OF VOCALIZATION

A Graded Series of Vocal Studies for all Voices, selected from the Celebrated Works of BORDESE, BORDOGNI, CONCONE, LABLACHE, LAMPERTI, MARCHESI, NAVA, PANOFKA, PANSERON, RUBINI, SAVINELLI, SIEBER and others.

Edited by Max Spicker

Library 1324/27 113 Vocalises for Soprano
Library 1328/31 112 Vocalises for Mezzo-Soprano
Library 1332/35 126 Vocalises for Alto
Library 1336/39 120 Vocalises for Tenor
Library 1340/43 100 Vocalises for Baritone
Library 1344/46 102 Vocalises for Bass

THIS collection, in twenty-three books, averaging seventy-five pages each, comprising the most celebrated Vocalises by the foremost Italian, French, and German masters, and regularly employed in teaching by the most distinguished contemporary instructors, has in the course of the past twelve years. become one of the classics of vocal pedagogy. There are six series, for Soprano, Mezzo-Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, Baritone, and Bass, respectively, each series containing four books (except that for Bass, which has three). The vocalises in each series are progressively arranged according to difficulty, thus furnishing a complete graded course in this department of voice cultivation. By virtue of judicious selection, this instruction book is wholly free from one-sidedness—a blemish apparent in so many works by single teachers. It is not, however, intended for beginners, but as a continuation of Concone's "Fifty Vocalises." Each series is headed by a preface, wherein will be found interesting explanatory and instructive matter.

These Vocalises have been most carefully selected and edited; the fine quality of the press-work and thoroughness in proofreading combine to render the collection as perfect and attractive as possible.

The increasing interest in the art of singing and the great success of the collection among singing teachers and pupils prompt us to again draw attention to its merits and its almost indispensable value to the earnest student.

Ear-Training
And Sight-Singing

Applied to Elementary Musical Theory

A practical and coördinated course for school and private study

By GEORGE A. WEDGE

QUOTING from the author's preface, "The purpose of this book is to present the Elements of Music in a direct and concise manner; to show as simply as possible the reason for these things; to give the pupil material for practice and instruct him how to use this material."

Supplemental to the above it might be stated, that no existent work treating Ear-Training and Sight-Singing, or relating to them, covers the subject in such a thorough and authoritative manner—nothing need be added to the contents. Neither is there any other book so modern; in it may be found principles and conclusions which embrace the best of contemporary thought along with that which time has demonstrated to be sound.

Mr. Wedge has tested for years, and with remarkable results, every page of his book in his class-work at the Institute of Musical Art, the Herbert Witherspoon Studios and St. Agatha School, all of New York City.
